PROMOTION PABULUM

SECRETARY WOOD KEEPS THINGS MOVING FOR HAWAII AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Honolulu, June 25, 1908.
Chairman and Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

Gentlemen.—By the last mail an additional batch of letters was received from different libraries on the mainland acknowledging copies of our pamphlet "Agriculture in Hawaii." A number of requests for our news service also came to hand.

By the Marama, several inquiries from probable visitors were received from different points in New Zealand and Australia, also from Colombo, Ceylon. The Gaile Pace and Oriental Hotels of Colombo continue to give our folders a prominent place in the advertising matter they distribute among their guests.

By the last steamer for the north, a full line of folders was sent to Mr. J. J. Coyle, assistant general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for distribution throughout the Northwest.

Upon the arrival of the new Japanese steamer Tenyo Maru, we presented the purser with a framed copy of our map "The Cross Roads of the Pacific," which has been given the place of honor in his office.

The new edition (third) of "The Cross Roads of the Pacific" map should soon be to hand. We have numerous applications for additional copies and will be able to thoroughly cover China, Japan and the Straits Settlements, as well as Australia and New Zealand, with this effective advertisement.

I am pleased to report that Mr. G. E. Wilder has promised to look into the matter of a special fruit display in our rooms during food week. We also expect to have a good exhibit of aial and growing pineapples in tubs.

Through the courtesy of Mr. W. H. Rice, we will be able to show at least two more of Otto Wix's paintings of Kauai scenery. Hoary Head mountain near Lihue with the Hula stream in the foreground, the other being a sketch of Waioluohu waterfall.

Mr. Howard Hitchcock has also promised to favor us with several of his latest paintings of Island scenery which, we feel assured, will be greatly appreciated by the numerous visitors constantly thronging our rooms.

A letter from the editor of the National Geographic Magazine states that they will publish in their July or August number an interesting article by Mr. W. A. Bryan, on the "Pacific Scientific Institute," which will be well illustrated.

Respectfully submitted,
H. P. WOOD, Secretary.

JACK LONDON SAILS.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack London continued their adventurous cruise round the world on Saturday morning. Their next port of call will probably be Valparaiso in the New Hebrides. After clearing the Suva passage the "Snark" ran down the coast towards Navua, the owner and master evidently desiring to have a look at the southern coast of Viti Levu in daylight.—Western Pacific Herald, Suva, Fijl, June 9.

IN CRIMINAL COURT.

The men indicted at the last sitting of the Territorial grand jury were brought before Judge Robinson this morning. The arraignments of Manuel Cruz, charged with a crime against a child under ten; of Fugida, charged with maiming; and of Maximina Brilliante, charged with assault and battery with a weapon, were put over till tomorrow morning. The hearing of the defendant in the case of Blanche Martin, charged with fornication, will also come up on Friday. Inagi, charged with selling liquor without a license, pleaded not guilty.

QUEEN STREET PAVING

Actual work on Queen street in preparation for the wooden block pavement will be started on Monday, when the street will be made ready for the water pipes which will be laid down as fast as possible. The blocks of Northwest arrived on the Alaskan Monday, and by the first of August the work of laying them is expected to commence. After the water pipes are laid, the concrete foundation on which the blocks will rest will be commenced, and after that is dry the blocks will be laid as quickly as possible. The concrete will be six inches thick, and the blocks measure 3x4x6, which will bring the street up to a few inches from the top of the curbing. The Supervisors are very anxious to have the work completed as soon as possible, and if nothing serious happens Queen street should be open for traffic again by September 1.

PUNAHOU FESTIVAL

Tomorrow, Friday, is the day when the Punahou Alumni Association will hold its annual festival and re-union on the College grounds at Punahou. In addition to the literary program already published in these columns, the Hawaiian Band will be in attendance, and the usual display of fruit will be had. The management desires it to be understood that all those interested in Punahou as well as members of the Association are cordially invited to attend.

The meeting will be opened at 3 o'clock.

All friends of Punahou are hoping for a fine day for the very interesting fete on the lawn near the Bishop hall. First there will be the exercises of the Alumni Association, after which coffee and sandwiches will be served. Gerrit Wilder has given much time and thought to the collecting of Island fruits which will be displayed in various artistically decorated booths. Already some boxes of fine fruits have been received from Kauai, and others are expected from Hawaii and Maui. Many friends of Oahu College in and about Honolulu have promised generous donations.

Mr. Wilder will doubtless have a very fine display which will be well worth seeing.

BATTLESHIP TO GO FOR RECORD

PRINCE OF WALES IS TO BE GIVEN SPEEDY TRIP ACROSS ATLANTIC.

LONDON, June 16.—A new trans-Atlantic record is promised when the Prince of Wales sails soon to pay an official visit to Canada. The prince will sail on the Indomitable, one of England's new battleships, and instructions have been given the crew and stokers of the big vessel to speed her up.

The Indomitable has a capacity of twenty-one knots an hour, and if she goes within three knots of this on her coming trip a new record will be made. Stokers have been chosen with special care, and a number of skilled mechanics will go along to see that nothing happens to the turbines.

The cruisers that will act as an escort for the prince will probably leave several days ahead of the Indomitable, so as not to be left behind in the race, and will be at Quebec to welcome the Indomitable. The navy department is anxious for the speed test to be made, as it wishes to know just what can be counted on in the way of speed in the type of war vessels that England is building.

AFLOAT AND ASHORE.

GARFIELD'S FLYING TRIP

for their products too low, particularly for coffee, which is the main industry, to allow them to engage successfully in its cultivation, or in that of other small crops. This unfortunate condition should not be ascribed to any lack of effort on the part of those whites who were formerly engaged in diversified agriculture on a small scale, but to the differences in the needs and customs of the two races.

Hanalei and other districts had formerly hundreds of acres of thrifty coffee trees, owned and cultivated by Anglo Saxons, but owing to the conditions enumerated above, there is but little being cultivated by these people at present. If the coffee industry, particularly, of these islands is to be put on a paying basis and in the hands of American citizens, it will have to be done at Washington, either by tariff, bounty, or the admission of Chinese agricultural laborers. In the first case better prices would be obtained; in the second the cost of production would be less, while in either case this industry would be made a profitable one.

When Chinese were prohibited from coming to these islands wages for unskilled labor increased, with the result that many employers of skilled white labor were compelled to fill their places with Orientals, to partially offset the extra wages paid to unskilled labor. As these Orientals were as satisfactory for many skilled positions as the white man, and were to be had for lower wage, it forced many of the white mechanics to leave the islands. Chinese as a rule do not aspire to the skilled positions, but are quite content to remain in the fields. The white man will not work in the fields, either here or in any other tropical country, though they are good and willing workers in skilled and semi-skilled positions.

I am well aware, Mr. Secretary, that these remarks on diversified industries and labor are hardly appropriate in an address of welcome, yet knowing that your visit to Hawaii is one of investigation rather than pleasure, I have felt that a few remarks upon conditions here would not come amiss. And now, in behalf of the people of Hanalei, I invite you all to partake of their hospitality, and propose a toast to you, Mr. Garfield, and to the success and good results which I am sure your visit will bring about.

Mr. Garfield made a fine, strong speech in reply. He spoke of the high and responsible calling of American citizenship and what the privileges thereof involved. The President's message to the people of Hawaii, given first in Honolulu, with its hope of ultimate statehood was repeated. The Secretary of the Interior expressed great pleasure at seeing many women turn out, showing their patriotic interest in public affairs. He was convinced that the people of the Territory of Hawaii had only to take hold of anything to make it a success. The labor question of Hawaii was adverted to, also the land laws. Mr. Garfield said he did not believe that the United States land laws should be applied, as they stood, to the Hawaiian public lands, as the Federal land laws were themselves faulty. He caused much merriment by telling of a jolly good swim the Governor and he had taken under a bridge along the road while delayed by the broken down car.

W. O. Smith, W. G. Smith, F. B. McStocker and A. L. C. Atkinson followed the Secretary with brief speeches.

The luau was over about 7 p. m. LOST ON THE PLAINS.

Mr. Garfield, Governor Fennell and Judge Ballou got a surly and pushed on for Waimea, it having been arranged that a carriage from there should meet them on the way. It did meet them some distance out, but in a drizzle of rain the Waimea driver lost his way. After driving hither and yon it was observed by the party that the drift of rain which had first been on one hand was now on the other. From this it was concluded that the equipage had reversed its direction and was heading for Honolulu. The team was put about ship and the horses given their own head, so that Waimea was at last reached at two o'clock in the morning. The rest of the party had stayed behind at the Honolulu hotel and getting out of bed at three o'clock in the morning they started for Waimea. Mr. Pritchard went along on horseback with them.

It is no road for automobiles and if it were not for the excellence of the machines they would never have got there. Carter's machine broke a low pressure connecting rod and was towed back to Honolulu, its occupants being divided up among the other vehicles. Mr. Atkinson had already ordered carriages from Waimea to meet the party. The Castle car, driven by Campus M. Schoening, had to be towed through mud puddles by cowboys.

At Papeete the travelers had lunch with Judge Alfred W. Carter, who

CONCERT WILL BE ON TUESDAY

The concert to be given by Madame Blanche Arrol at the Opera House next Tuesday will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m. The program to be given is a long one and it will be unfortunate if this little Frenchwoman is interrupted in any of her numbers. The press throughout Australia has been a unit in its praise of the remarkable voice of the Madame, besides having a soprano voice of truly wonderful register she has dramatic ability of no mean order. And she is generous with her acknowledgments of the pleasing manifestations of the audience.

In Australia they called Madame Arrol's concert "frocky" nights, which probably has reference to the magnificent costumes worn by her during the evening. In Adelaide it was a question whether the mad changes in costume did not require more exertion than is good for a lady, but just the same the audience enjoyed the frocks next to her magnificent voice. One of her gowns was sequine net over pink garlanded with small roses; the next a beautiful black net with a large spray of flowers embroidered with colored sequins in the front breadth. There was also a yellow satin embroidered to look almost like tapestry, very handsome but somewhat weird to the eye that is not trained to things ultra Parisian.

OLD-TIME VESSEL GOES ON WAYS

FALLS OF CLYDE, FORMERLY A CLIPPER SHIP KNOWN TO OLD SAILORS.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 16.—The Engineering Works have a busy week before them, as two vessels were yesterday pulled upon the ways for repairs. The Falls of Clyde, a four-masted ship, chartered by the Associated Oil Company, went on the ways for a general overhauling and repairing and a new rudder.

The Falls of Clyde is a vessel well known to old sailors, having started her seafaring life almost a half century ago as a passenger ship between New York and Liverpool in the Black Ball line. After several years on the Atlantic, the Falls of Clyde was brought to the Pacific Ocean and engaged in the sugar carrying trade between Hawaii and Pacific coast ports. But like all the rest of the sailing vessels in the sugar trade, the steamers soon put her out of the sugar trade. The vessel was converted into an oil tanker at the United Engineering Works a few months ago but had the misfortune to run into a heavy gale as she left Gaviota by a steam schooner, her spars replaced and then sailed for Oakland harbor for a general overhauling.

It is strange to relate, but in all her years of service on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, this is the first time this big sailing vessel was ever seriously damaged by a storm.
